The Volunteers In Police Service are a group of highly trained and motivated citizens dedicated to exemplary community service and public awareness through the South Portland Police Department. They assist the department in the support services, patrol and detective divisions. Their countless donated hours make South Portland a better place to work, live, and play. Volunteers are not utilized to replace sworn officers, or other paid positions, but rather to enhance the overall efficiency of the agency. Their efforts help reduce crime and increase the services that the police department can provide to the community.
